An earthquake insurance seems to be the next in order.

Montpelier's sympathy was prompt and therefore the better.

Three men have announced themselves for state's attorney of Washington county. Are there others?

According to the Rutland Herald, the "revolt" movement of Clement's admirers is spreading like a spring grass fire.

Score one for John D. Rockefeller if the price of oil doesn't rise in consequence; he has given $100,000 to the "Frisco sufferers."

The one ludicrous feature of this terrible disaster is the popping up of various individuals who declare that they prophesied just such a thing.

It is explained that the Burlington horse which shied at an automobile and dumped two men into the street was from the country and "not used to city ways."

REMEMBERS OF WHAT WAS.

A mournful reminder of that which was in the fair western city are the circulars now being received in this city setting forth the advantages of the city as a convention center and inviting visitors. These circulars were sent out before the first shock of the earthquake last Wednesday morning and are just now being received in the eastern cities. The reading of them accompanies the loss which has befallen the Golden Gate City. On Tuesday San Francisco stood in all its pride as the western metropolis, a growing, thriving municipality of 400,000 people. Today —a span of four days—it lies a blackened ruin, with only fringes of residential districts to mark the outlines of the former city. The heart is eaten out of it. And what makes the disaster seem even greater is the fact that San Francisco was just experiencing the largest impetus to its growth in recent years. The real estate sales made during the month of March were by far the most important on record, having reached over nineteen million dollars.
 From this it will be understood how progressive was the city, how pulsating with commercial life. And now in the disaster this same vitality will be a powerful resource in the rebuilding of the vast burned area. San Francisco is made of the stuff which refuses to remain down with the ruins; its very location precludes the possibility of its being abandoned, for there are few situations as advantageous, and even the fear of earthquakes will not shake the purpose to rear another city. Fire did not kill Boston, Baltimore or Chicago.
 Fire and earthquake will not kill San Francisco.

Yet the various conventions which were planned to be held there the present summer will without doubt be changed to other places. Among these was the great convention of the Na-

DIED FROM INJURIES.

Frank Rivers Was Hurt in Burlington Elevator.

Burlington, April 21.—Frank Rivers, the 19-year-old son of Thomas Rivers of Middlebury, who was injured in an elevator accident on Wednesday afternoon at the Hotel Burlington, died yesterday afternoon at the Mary Fletcher hospital at about 3:30 o'clock.

Mr. Rivers and his brother, Joseph, had been in this city only a short time and about a week ago obtained positions at the hotel. They told Mr. Delaney, the proprietor, that their father was in prison at Windsor and that they were trying to make a living. On Wednesday afternoon the boy, Frank, entered the elevator at the ground floor and after reaching the second floor he jumped out. On glancing back he noticed that the machine was going upwards and he ran back and attempted to board the elevator. He threw his body across the floor, but was unable to enter the cage before reaching the next landing. His body was wedged between the two partitions with such force that it stopped the elevator. When taken from his position he soon became unconscious and was immediately taken to the Mary Fletcher hospital. The lower part of his body and chest were terribly bruised and one leg was paralyzed.

Yesterday morning he seemed brighter and there were hopes of his recovery. Later in the afternoon, however, the lower portion of his lungs became congested, causing death.

HARDWICK HORSE THIEF.

Sheriff Smith of Cambridge Caught Him in Edwards, N. Y.

Malone, N. Y., April 21.—Last July Clarence Billings, at that time working in Hardwick, Vt., stole a horse, wagon and harness of Mr. Foss of that place, and sold the team for $50. Sheriff W. M. Smith of Cambridge, Vt., got the team and delivered it to Mr. Foss, and since that time has been looking for Billings. Last Tuesday Smith located him in Edwards, N. Y. Billings said he was willing to go to Hardwick.
 Smith arrived in this city with him last night, and will take him to Hyde Park Monday for safe keeping till the June term of court.

EAST MONTPELIER.

George Mason of West Randolph was in town Thursday selling farm machines and calling on friends.

East Montpelier creamery paid patrons 26 cents per pound for March butter.

The schools in town are to begin next Monday.

Phil Batchelder had the Orange County Co. telephone connected with his house last Monday.

The meeting at the Grange was posponed this week until the first Wednesday evening in May.

Miss Jessie Laird is now recovering from a quinsy sore throat.

Howard Arbuckle of South Barre has been in town several days this week, taking orders for wall paper.

Richard Doying is suffering from an abscess on one hand and has gone to visit his daughter in New Hampshire.

Mrs. E. B. Arbuckle was in Marshfield Saturday and Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Lee Townsend.

H. M. Farnham starts for Chicago this (Saturday) night for more horses.

Philip Mader, who works at the creamery, has been confined to the house the latter part of this week with an attack of tonsillitis.

Part of the flume went out with the high water the first of the week, so that both the saw mill and grist mill are out of commission for the present.

Joe Murray came home Wednesday from Heaton hospital, where he has been since his recent accident. He is not yet able to walk without assistance.

Ray Tillotson has been quite ill this week, and on Thursday he went with his brother, Lucius, to visit Dr. Brown at Plainfield. Lucius has been ill for the past month with inflammatory rheumatism and has not yet entirely recovered.

The Easter service, which should have been held at the brick church last Sunday, was postponed until tomorrow on account of the impassable roads.

There was a bad washout last Sunday near E. P. McKnight's house, so that the road was blocked for travel.
 There was also a landslide Saturday night on the river road toward Montpelier at the same old place. Five men were kept busy digging at the latter place for two days to open the road.

Rev. N. D. Witham and family returned to Milan, N. H., Saturday, after spending a week in town.

Phil Batchelder was in Marshfield on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

Two children of Charles Doherty of Montpelier have been visiting the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Maloy.

Irrving Bates of East Barre was at A. G. Whitaker's Monday, after seed potatoes, and thought he earned them by coming after them, the roads were so bad.

Joseph Gillander recently sold his farm to O. L. Tillotson, consideration $2,000, and last Monday sold his personal property at auction. Murray Kent of Montpelier was the auctioneer, and Charles McKnight was clerk. There was a good attendance and good prices prevailed. The fourteen cows sold averaged over $38 each. Mr. Gillander sells out on account of ill health.
